Earth Rhythms Presents

Fall in with Riding Mountain

Guided acoustical walks at the cusp of dusk and into the night...in the Riding Mountain wilds, capped off with a surprise guest encounter.

Five Remarkable Saturdays - Sept. 10, 17, 24, Oct. 1 & 8

The Experience

- A 2 to 3-hour evening guided walking, storytelling, nature discovery experience during the transition from dusk into darkness in the wilderness of Riding Mountain National Park.
- Interactive participation in various activities around fall acoustical wild sounds - elk, moose, birds, wolves, migration, and much more.
- A 1-hour end-of-evening encounter with a special Riding Mountain area songwriter.
- Locally created fall harvest snacks provided by Foxtail Café. Fall beverages.

A Songwriter's Perspective

Each Saturday features a different songwriter who will share their wilderness stories, songs, and experiences. Confirmed artists include Ingrid Gatin, Jesse Matas (The Crooked Brothers), Carly Dow.

Earth Rhythms is a licensed, insured tour operator within Riding Mountain National Park for 20 years. They are the recipients of the Travel Manitoba Award of Distinction for leadership in tourism.

Book early - numbers are limited

Each Fall in Love outdoor experience is limited to a maximum of 15 persons on a first-register, first-pay basis. Booking must be completed one week in advance of scheduled departure date. Please note: Earth Rhythms reserves the right to cancel a program due to insufficient registration.

Trip Preparation Instructions:

- Meeting location, time, and trip preparation instructions will be provided after you register, because each Saturday location in the park will be different.
- You will need your vehicle to travel to an offsite location where you will meet your guide before heading off for your adventure walk.
- These are "rain or shine events". We accept nature on its own terms. We'll adapt accordingly. Dress for conditions.
